Vivi Teacher Tip:
Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboard

What is Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboard?

Students use the Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboard feature to engage in multiple rounds of practice, without losing their work. Students can then save multiple boards to their computer or to the cloud with the click of a button!
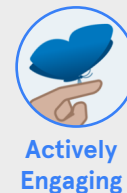

- Watch the Vivi "Whiteboard" feature tutorial here.

Research Connections:

Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboard means:

- Less time spent on materials distribution and clean-up and more time spent actively engaging with content.
- Students use multiple "boards" as they engage in deliberate and sustained practice, thereby building a record of where they've been and where they're going.

Actively Engaging

Growth Oriented

Educator Tips & Tricks:

"[Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboards enables] individualized work for the students that can easily be shared with teachers and home."

Start small:

- Before using the whiteboard with content, it is good to get students comfortable with the whiteboard and its features. You can do this through fun games like Pictionary or even give them free time to play and create.

Try this strategy when...

- You want to offer students the opportunity to complete mess-free practice problems that don't necessitate paper, mini whiteboards, dry erase markers, or erasers.

Hear from other Vivi users

Vivi's Educator Council members share how they use Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboard in their classrooms.

Organize practice sets by saving multiple whiteboards

Students can save and organize multiple boards to their computer or to the cloud with the click of a button. They can then refer to them at a later time for reminders or support.

Save instructional time with virtual whiteboards

Students in Tompkinsville, Kentucky's Monroe County School District regularly use Mess-Free Practice with Whiteboard to maximize time spent practicing and minimize time lost to procedures, passing out materials, etc.
